The concept of YouTube™ for the Criminal Justice Educator is to provide instructors with dynamic access to supplemental material via video. Nearly 400 videos are categorized and descriptions provided. The videos are classified into twenty-one categories. The links are live from this document. There is some overlap between the categories. The category titles are linked from the Table of Contents. Thus, if you want to view films on Active Shooter, click on Active Shooter in the Table of Contents and you will be taken to that page.

Versions

The Web is a constantly changing place. On YouTube™, videos are added, deleted and the URL modified constantly. You can help keep this document viable. If you find a dead link, think a certain video should not be included, or have a video you would like to be included, or would like to be notified of updated versions, send an email to editor@police-writers.com. You can also check the website www.criminaljusticevideos.com for updates. Lastly, if you click on a link that is dead, use the YouTube™ search function and search for the title of the video, a comma and then the word “long.” As an example, “history of federal courts, long.” With this search, the word “long” after a comma limits your searches to videos over 20 minutes in length.

Advertising

The project is supported by the advertising you will occasionally find throughout the document. The ads are live linked. If you are interested in advertising in YouTube™ for the Criminal Justice Educator, send an email to editor@police-writers.com.

Active Shooter

Title: Norway Massacre: The Killer's Mind

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SiptEDALnM4>

Time: 43:30

Description: It's the world's worst spree killing. Discovery Channel Norway Massacre: The Killer's Mind examines the terrible events of that day. In 90 minutes of madness, 32-year-old Anders Behring Breivik killed 69 young people. The film pieces together Breivik's day of terror hour by hour, from the time of the bomb set off in Oslo, to the cold blooded shooting of defenseless youngsters on the remote island spot of Utøya.

Title: Shootout! North Hollywood Shootout

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xw1Intsbm24>

Title: The Columbine Killers

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Bd9DQV2yn58>

Time: 46:48

Description: On April 20, 1999, in Littleton, Colorado, two high-school seniors, Eric Harris, 18, and Dylan Klebold, 17, launched an assault on Columbine High School. Armed with guns, knives and bombs, the pair hoped to murder hundreds of students. In a 49-minute rampage, they killed 12 students and one teacher before committing suicide. It was one of the worst school shooting in American history.

Title: The Long Island Railroad Massacre

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8MPoz5DioPE>

Time: 21:30

Description: On December 7, 1993, a Jamaican man (Colin Ferguson) opened fire on a Long Island commuter train killing 6 and injuring 19 more in an incident coined the "Long Island Railroad Massacre". This video focuses on the killer representing himself at trial.

Title: True Crime Charles Whitman Documentary

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=OON81IJ9yos>

Time: 44:06

Description: Charles Whitman served as a Marine before enrolling in the University of Texas. Suffering from mental illness and acute fits of anger, Whitman killed his mother and wife and on August 1, 1966, went atop a 300-foot tower, targeting people in the vicinity. He would kill 16 and injure many others before he was killed by police, who stormed the tower. Perhaps, the first active shooter in modern American history.

Title: Virginia Tech Massacre

URL: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Z71wKr9gK\_g

Time: 59:09

Description: One year after the United States' worst mass-shooting, This World investigates why the killer carried out the attack. On the morning of 16 April 2007, on the Virginia Tech campus in America, a 23-year-old student called Seung-Hui Cho killed 32 people before turning his gun on himself. The incident became the worst gun rampage in US history. Using extensive access to key witnesses, it delves into the mystery of how Cho, a young man with no criminal history, became a mass murderer.

Careers

Title: Inside the US Secret Service

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BHkvtmEyas8>

Time: 1:29:03

Description: This documentary that takes you behind the scenes of the Secret Service, the agency tasked with protecting the President of the United States. The film takes place during the 2004 Bush vs. Kerry campaign, and many of the scenes involve the extensive preparation the Secret Service needs to do to secure a stadium and the surrounding areas for a presidential speech. There are of course the required scenes that walk you through various assassinations and assassination attempts on past presidents like Kennedy, Ford, Reagan, etc. These events are recounted in vivid detail firsthand by the Secret Service agents who were there at the time. The more unusual parts of "Inside the US Secret Service", however, are the forays into the lesser known aspects of the organization. Here you get to see the Secret Service training facilities, complete with explosions and gunfire, including an evasive driving course where agents learn how to do 180 degree turns at 70 miles per hour. You also learn about threat assessment, where agents process death threats against the president and investigate them using voice recognition, handwriting analysis, and DNA/fingerprinting. There is a section on anti-counterfeit money operations, which was actually Secret Service's original role when it was first created.

Title: Inside the Walls: The New York Corrections Officer

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=oNOgbSAqP9A>

Time: 27:08

Description: Learn about the life and training of the working dogs of the Vancouver Police Department Dog Squad! Today, Barbara Arnold is talking to Harley Dvorkin, constable from the Vancouver Police Department. He tells us about the different training methods and much more. The dogs that are being trained for becoming a police dog for the VPD are German Shepherds only. This is because VPD found out that this breed is the best for the job. They begin their training when they are 8 weeks old and build a strong relationship to the police officer who is their partner.

Constitution

Title: Marbury v. Madison

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uLRO5iCWpps>

Time: 33:32

Description: Dramatizations of historic decisions from the courtroom of America's great Chief Justice, John Marshall. Who determines what the Constitution means—what is and is not constitutional? In this 1803 case, the Supreme Court established its responsibility to review the constitutionality of acts of Congress. President John Adams appointed Federalist William Marbury as justice of the peace, but failed to deliver Marbury's official commission before President Jefferson and the Democratic-Republicans took over the administration. Marbury asked the Supreme Court to order Jefferson's Secretary of State, James Madison, to deliver the commission. Marbury's demand precipitated a confrontation between Chief Justice Marshall and President Thomas Jefferson. The Supreme Court held that it did not have jurisdiction and declared that the law permitting the Court to hear the case was unconstitutional.

Title: Amistad: The Federal Courts and the Challenge to Slavery

URL: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CSx9tjj\_jyY

Time: 27:18

Description: The Federal Courts and the Challenge to Slavery. In 1839, the federal courts became the stage for a drama involving enslaved Africans who led a revolt against their captors and sought to return to their homeland in West Africa. The case of the Amistad forced the judiciary to address issues related to the slave trade, the property claims of slaveholders, and the enslaved men's claim of personal liberty. This program uses an extensive selection of historic images and documents to tell the story that culminated with the Supreme Court's decision about the freedom of the Africans from the Amistad.

Title: Juvenile Dependency Court

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JG4tkkwrkNU>

Time: 37:59

Description: Dependency actions involve minors who have allegedly been abused, neglected, or inadequately cared for by one or more parents. The jurisdiction prerequisites for such proceedings are described in Welfare and Institutions Code Section 300. Unlike delinquency or status offender proceedings (where the principal focus is on the conduct of the minor), dependency proceedings are to ensure the safety and well-being of the minor. If Juvenile Court jurisdiction is established, the court will then determine whether the minor should be removed from the parent's custody and, if so, what placement would be most appropriate for the minor's needs.

Title: Born to Be a Criminal - Gypsies in the Modern World

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IFMIXRERxfc>

Time: 58:30

Description: This documentary shows Roma immigrants, mostly from Bulgaria and Romania, who use their young children for petty thievery and begging to make their daily living. They are camping illegally on public lands and are stealing whatever is not secured. European law forbids record keeping that reflects racial, ethnic or religious identity, and because many of these latter-day Artful Dodgers are kids, and are let go even if they are caught, there are no accurate statistics to support the conventional wisdom of our modern day gypsies. Sometimes it appears the police take action without making arrests, since they know minors are difficult to prosecute and the adults in their lives most likely put them up to the crime in the first place. The police take measures to try to fight the petty thefts. When security cameras in the subway spot a suspect group, the loudspeakers warn that pickpockets are aboard.

Title: Charles Manson - Documentary

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=V0zp2zWuotw>

Time: 52:16

Time: 43:07

Description: (Australia) A semi-naked body of a woman was discovered in August 2002 beside a police station in the Brisbane suburb of Hendra. She'd suffered multiple stab wounds to much of her body. Within hours investigators knew the victim's identity. Her name was Jasmin Crathern, a local prostitute who'd spent many years working the streets of Brisbane's notorious red light district in Fortitude Valley. Although they knew the victim, discovering the identity of her killer would prove far more difficult. The only clues left at the scene were some dusty shoe and tire prints, and initially investigators had no luck tracing this forensic evidence to a suspect.

Title: BBC: How Drugs Work – Cocaine

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1etrYEe0T7I>

Time: 56:47

Description: Documentary combining compelling real-life stories and stunning computer graphics to explore how cocaine creates its highs and its lows. Cocaine, once a drug exclusively for the rich and famous, is now the most popular class A drug in Britain, with more than 1.2 million people taking it in the UK in 2009. The film follows three users on nights out on coke and uses cutting-edge computer graphics to journey inside their bodies and brains to find out how the drug creates its highs and its lows. For some, cocaine is the ideal addition to a night out, but for others taking it became a life-changing event, including the young man that needed a pacemaker fitted at just 17 after cocaine gave him a heart attack and a patient undergoing surgery to repair a nose torn apart by too many lines of coke. Britain's leading experts help explain the truth behind cocaine's controversial reputation - the perfect pick-me-up or a killer class A?

Title: Cannabis Britain's Secret Farms

URL: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ml2\_5YWZdEc

Time: 57:19

Description: In 2002, Britain produced 15 per cent of its own cannabis. In 2010 that figure is 90 per cent, and police around the country raid at least three factories every day. Organised gangs are cashing in on widespread demand for cannabis among Britain's youth by setting up sophisticated factories in suburban homes and disused warehouses. Research shows a third of the UK's 15-year-olds have tried cannabis and a quarter of young people aged 16-24 smoke it regularly. Presenter Rickie Haywood-Williams journeys beyond the scaremongering headlines to find out the true impact of the UK's skunk-smoking habit. Rickie accompanies Avon and Somerset police on raids, and rides in a heat-seeking helicopter as it uncovers cannabis farms with hi-tech thermal imaging equipment. He also meets a landlord who was horrified to find his tenant was in fact part of an organized gang who were farming cannabis in every bedroom of his house. Rickie's journey also includes a trip to Amsterdam and meetings with some of the UK's three million smokers, from those who fiercely defend their habit to others who regret the effect it has had on their lives.

Title: Ecstasy, LSD & the Raves

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kVl5juz8Yuk>

Time: 42:15

Description: How did the psychedelic drugs LSD and Ecstasy journey from a scientific discovery to a popular recreation to banned drugs? Mental health professionals once believed that LSD could treat schizophrenia or alcoholism. Meanwhile, Ecstasy, the "penicillin for the soul", was used in marriage counseling. Now, continuing the cycle of the hallucinogen, some of the latest derivatives in this category of drugs, the "rave" drugs such as GHB and Ketamine, are about to be banned.

Title: Heroin - Addicted to the Devil

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pFgNcvxy0Zo>

Time: 43:58

Description: Heroin is an opioid drug that is synthesized from morphine, a naturally occurring substance extracted from the seed pod of the Asian opium poppy plant. In 2011, 4.2 million Americans aged 12 or older (or 1.6 percent) had used heroin at least once in their lives. It is estimated that about 23 percent of individuals who use heroin become dependent on it.

The heroin DVD Narcotic Nation also gives us an inside look at what local narcotics officers and DEA agents are doing to prevent the drug from entering American communities.

Title: History Channel: Ancient Drugs

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pmBVBU7reNg>

Time: 43:13

Description: Join Dr. Andrew Weil and other leading physicians and scholars in this often-surprising look at the long history of drug use in different cultures worldwide. Since mankind's beginning, in every civilization, human beings have found ways to alter their consciousness in search of something "greater" than everyday reality. To this end, we have indulged in and experimented with all manner of frightening, toxic, even potentially lethal substances, in many different rituals. Ancient Drugs delves into mankind's psyche in search of the key to our pervasive drive to experience something "beyond." Psychologists and physicians, including Dr. Andrew Weil, world-famous author of the bestselling Spontaneous Healing, offer insight into the physical and mental mechanisms and motivations behind this universal desire. Historians and spiritualists explore the ancient rituals of cultures worldwide that have sought visions and truth through altered consciousness, and illuminate the terrifying, exquisite visions that are revealed to those who journey beyond the constraints of the conscious mind.

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-TZOxSSGJL0>

Time: 57:01

Description: Ecstasy would not be on the street if drugs were legal. No one would have needed to go through the pains of formulating it with all the other drug choices for altering one's state. A legal drug trade ensures safe drugs are available for those who wish to use. Education programs and research would be funded with tax revenue from a legal industry that starts with manufacture and flows through to the consumer purchasing stage.

Title: Our Drugs War: Episode 2 - The Life and Death of a Dealer

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=sttA5kC8qCI>

Time: 46:56

Description: Our Drugs War examines the global story of drugs from the estates of Edinburgh to the poppy fields of Afghanistan: from demand and consumption to supply. The series demonstrates that the astonishing cost and harm to society from our war on drugs is now worse than that of the drugs themselves. The Queensbridge Estate in New York lies within sight of the Manhattan skyscrapers, but is seemingly a world away. The largest housing complex in Queens, it is regularly raided by police to break up massive drug operations. Here, award-winning filmmaker Angus Macqueen looks at the social cost of America's war on drugs through the life of 28-year-old Thomas Winston, a small-time drug dealer struggling to stay out of prison and away from the lure of easy money that illegal drugs offer.

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ILx8Mo0Edac>

Time: 59:53

Description: The abuse of prescription drugs is quickly becoming an epidemic. They're easy to get and simple to distribute. Gone are the days when people needed to go to a seedy street corner to get high. Now, they just need to go to a medicine cabinet or visit the doctor. While many communities are just beginning to figure out how to handle this legal drug problem, anti-drug groups in Tennessee have had a head start. For years, Tennessee held the unwanted distinction as the nation's top state for prescription drug abuse. That is changing, thanks to hard work and cooperation. The people from Tennessee will share their experiences during this hour-long broadcast. There will be no expert panel discussion, just advice from the people in the field. Learn how citizens in Tennessee discovered the problem and took control. Hear from coalition leaders, law enforcement, doctors, pharmacists, insurance executives, and others. See what they did so you can bring it into your own communities.

Time: 42:14

Description: (Australia) Patricia Byers and her partner of three years, John Asquith, were enjoying a romantic evening for two aboard the luxury cabin cruiser Misty Blue. Moored near Stradbroke Island, they enjoyed a meal together and made love before retiring for the night in April 1993. Hours later, Asquith awoke covered in blood. He'd been shot in the head. When he found Byers lying on the deck, she claimed they'd been attacked by pirates. When police investigated the incident, they discovered Byers stood to gain almost $300,000 from Asquith's death through life insurance policies. Was she telling the truth about the pirate attack or had she pulled the trigger herself?

Time: 43:07

Description: (Australia) A semi-naked body of a woman was discovered in August 2002 beside a police station in the Brisbane suburb of Hendra. She'd suffered multiple stab wounds to much of her body. Within hours investigators knew the victim's identity. Her name was Jasmin Crathern, a local prostitute who'd spent many years working the streets of Brisbane's notorious red light district in Fortitude Valley. Although they knew the victim, discovering the identity of her killer would prove far more difficult. The only clues left at the scene were some dusty shoe and tire prints, and initially investigators had no luck tracing this forensic evidence to a suspect.

URL: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=\_DZoZDdIOGc

Time: 49:15

Description: Modern forensic science should make it impossible to commit murder and get away with it. But how easy would it be to outfox the detectives? With the help of top forensic scientists, and real-life murder investigations, we explore whether it's possible to commit a perfect murder. The body is the most important piece of evidence in any murder. Pathologist Dr Richard Shepherd reveals the crucial clues that give away the secrets of a suspicious death. Dr Lee Goff can work out a time of death from just a few maggots on a corpse. To really understand the way a human decomposes he relies on experiments - and dead pigs make ideal human models. And what is the perfect murder weapon? Probably Agatha Christie's favorite - poison. It leaves no marks on the body, and the victim may not even realize what has happened until it's too late. But there still might not be a perfect murder. The world's most notorious poisoner - Harold Shipman - was eventually caught.

Title: Whistling Smith

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rYWeWXHEV3U>

Time: 27:26

Description: In 1975, the National Film Board shot a controversial documentary in the Downtown Eastside that made a star out of a tough, foul-mouthed beat cop named Bernie "Whistling" Smith. The film, which appeared on 60 Minutes and received an Academy Award nomination, gave viewers an insight into the life of the 52-year-old sergeant as he harassed prostitutes, johns, drunks, drug dealers and addicts to get off his beat. Smith's no-nonsense approach didn't win him many friends. Even some of his fellow cops questioned his unorthodox methods. In one scene, shot in the now-closed Blue Eagle cafe, on Hastings, Smith tells an addict that he's bigger and stronger than him, and that he should think twice about challenging the sturdy cop. "Just don't let me catch you down a back alley with a gun pointed at me, because I'll take it off you and shove it right up your ass," says Smith, before the owner of the cafe, asks him to leave because of the disruption to customers. Almost 30 years since the release of Whistling Smith-named for the burly lawman's penchant for whistling on the beat-the cameras are still rolling in the Downtown Eastside.

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1etrYEe0T7I>

Time: 56:47

Description: Documentary combining compelling real-life stories and stunning computer graphics to explore how cocaine creates its highs and its lows. Cocaine, once a drug exclusively for the rich and famous, is now the most popular class A drug in Britain, with more than 1.2 million people taking it in the UK in 2009. The film follows three users on nights out on coke and uses cutting-edge computer graphics to journey inside their bodies and brains to find out how the drug creates its highs and its lows. For some cocaine is the ideal addition to a night out, but for others, taking it became a life-changing event, including the young man that needed a pacemaker fitted at just 17 after cocaine gave him a heart attack and a patient undergoing surgery to repair a nose torn apart by too many lines of coke. Britain's leading experts help explain the truth behind cocaine's controversial reputation - the perfect pick-me-up or a killer class A?

Title: Born to Be a Criminal - Gypsies in the Modern World

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IFMIXRERxfg>

Time: 58:30

Description: This documentary shows Roma immigrants, mostly from Bulgaria and Romania, who use their young children for petty thievery and begging to make their daily living. They are camping illegally on public lands and are stealing whatever is not secured. European law forbids record keeping that reflects racial, ethnic or religious identity, and because many of these latter-day Artful Dodgers are kids, and are let go even if they are caught, there are no accurate statistics to support the conventional wisdom of our modern day gypsies. Sometimes it appears the police take action without making arrests, since they know minors are difficult to prosecute and the adults in their lives most likely put them up to the crime in the first place. The police take measures to try to fight the petty thefts. When security cameras in the subway spot a suspect group, the loudspeakers warn that pickpockets are aboard.

Title: Cannabis Britain's Secret Farms

URL: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ml2\_5YWZdEc

Time: 57:19

Description: In 2002, Britain produced 15 per cent of its own cannabis. In 2010, that figure is 90 per cent, and police around the country raid at least three factories every day. Organized gangs are cashing in on widespread demand for cannabis among Britain's youth by setting up sophisticated factories in suburban homes and disused warehouses. Research shows a third of the UK's 15-year-olds have tried cannabis and a quarter of young people aged 16-24 smoke it regularly. Presenter Rickie Haywood-Williams journeys beyond the scaremongering headlines to find out the true impact of the UK's skunk-smoking habit. Rickie accompanies Avon and Somerset police on raids, and rides in a heat-seeking helicopter as it uncovers cannabis farms with hi-tech thermal imaging equipment. He also meets a landlord who was horrified to find his tenant was in fact part of an organized gang who was farming cannabis in every bedroom of his house. Rickie's journey also includes a trip to Amsterdam and meetings with some of the UK's three million smokers, from those who fiercely defend their habit to others who regret the effect it has had on their lives.

URL: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=\_DZoZDdIOGc

Time: 49:15

Description: Modern forensic science should make it impossible to commit murder and get away with it. But how easy would it be to outfox the detectives? With the help of top forensic scientists, and real-life murder investigations, we explore whether it's possible to commit a perfect murder. The body is the most important piece of evidence in any murder. Pathologist Dr Richard Shepherd reveals the crucial clues that give away the secrets of a suspicious death. Dr Lee Goff can work out a time of death from just a few maggots on a corpse. To really understand the way a human decomposes he relies on experiments - and dead pigs make ideal human models. And what is the perfect murder weapon? Probably Agatha Christie's favorite - poison. It leaves no marks on the body, and the victim may not even realize what has happened until it's too late. But there still might not be a perfect murder. The world's most notorious poisoner - Harold Shipman - was eventually caught.

Title: After Newtown - Guns in America

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=w4UugLF7S8M>

Time: 56:02

Description: After Newtown: Guns in America is an unprecedented exploration of America's enduring relationship with firearms. From the first European settlements in the New World to frontier justice; from 19th Century immigrant riots to gangland violence in the Roaring Twenties; from the Civil War to Civil Rights, guns have been at center of our national narrative for 400 years. Americans have relied on guns to sustain communities, challenge authority, and keep the peace. Efforts to curtail their distribution and ownership have triggered epic political battles. On one side, the cry for gun control gets louder with each mass shooting; On the other, Charlton Heston's 2000 rallying cry, "From my cold, dead hands," still resonates across the land. Featuring the personal reflections of Bill Cosby, Frank Serpico, and NRA President David Keene, among other experts and advocates, this unique documentary will examine the evolution of guns in America, their frequent link to violence, and the clash of cultures that reflect competing visions of our national identity.

The Mafia (also known as Cosa Nostra, in English "Our Concern") is a criminal syndicate in Sicily, Italy. It is a loose association of criminal groups that share a common organizational structure and code of conduct, and whose common enterprise is protection racketeering. Each group, known as a "family", "clan", or "cosca", claims sovereignty over a territory, usually a town or village or a neighbourhood (borgata) of a larger city, in which it operates its rackets. Its members call themselves "men of honour", although the public often refers to them as "mafiosi".

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BHkvtmEyas8>

Time: 1:29:03

Description: This documentary that takes you behind the scenes of the Secret Service, the agency tasked with protecting the President of the United States. The film takes place during the 2004 Bush vs. Kerry campaign, and many of the scenes involve the extensive preparation the Secret Service needs to do to secure a stadium and the surrounding areas for a presidential speech. There are of course the required scenes that walk you through various assassinations and assassination attempts on past presidents like Kennedy, Ford, Reagan, etc. These events are recounted in vivid detail firsthand by the Secret Service agents who were there at the time. The more unusual parts of "Inside the US Secret Service", however, are the forays into the lesser known aspects of the organization. Here you get to see the Secret Service training facilities, complete with explosions and gunfire, including an evasive driving course where agents learn how to do 180 degree turns at 70 miles per hour. You also learn about threat assessment, where agents process death threats against the president and investigate them using voice recognition, handwriting analysis, and DNA/fingerprinting. There is a section on anti-counterfeit money operations, which was actually Secret Service's original role when it was first created, and still comprises about half of all Secret Service personnel. You even get to meet the guy that cleans the armored cars of the president's fleet!

Title: Whistling Smith

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rYWeWXHEV3U>

Time: 27:26

Description: In 1975, the National Film Board shot a controversial documentary in the Downtown Eastside that made a star out of a tough, foul-mouthed beat cop named Bernie "Whistling" Smith. The film, which appeared on 60 Minutes and received an Academy Award nomination, gave viewers an insight into the life of the 52-year-old sergeant as he harassed prostitutes, johns, drunks, drug dealers and addicts to get off his beat. Smith's no-nonsense approach didn't win him many friends. Even some of his fellow cops questioned his unorthodox methods. In one scene, shot in the now-closed Blue Eagle cafe, on Hastings, Smith tells an addict that he's bigger and stronger than him, and that he should think twice about challenging the sturdy cop. "Just don't let me catch you down a back alley with a gun pointed at me, because I'll take it off you and shove it right up your ass," says Smith, before the owner of the cafe, asks him to leave because of the disruption to customers. Almost 30 years since the release of Whistling Smith-named for the burly lawman's penchant for whistling on the beat-the cameras are still rolling in the Downtown Eastside.

Time: 36:45

Description: This first module on Homeland Security in Israel focuses on the threat environment and the legal and political realities within which Israeli counterterrorism and homeland security policies operate. Two categories of ongoing terrorist threats exist in Israel: conventional and mega-terror threats. Here, Dr. Nadav Morag provides a brief history of the Israeli death toll from terrorism over the decades of the country's existence. Acts of terror come in a variety of attack forms including firearms, rockets/mortars, anti-tanks, and suicide bombers. Depictions of Israel's system of government are also provided, along with information concerning the Israeli legal environment and counterterrorism strategy.

Title: Introduction to Terrorism: Typology, Targets, and Organizations

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=grAOKnzkkfk>

Time: 26:00

Description: According to Dr. Nadav Morag, "as with any other phenomenon, researchers and policy analysts who attempt to study terrorism are faced with the problem of defining the nature and boundaries of the phenomenon in question." In this introduction to terrorism, Dr. Morag emphasizes the typology, targets, and organizations associated therein. He suggests that there are four basic methods to defining terrorism: based on the act itself; on those who carry it out, on the root cause for the violence perpetrated by the terrorists; or, on the nature of the policy response to the terrorism. Some argue, even, that terrorism need not be violent. While countries offer national definitions of terrorism, each interpretation reflects the interests and mindsets of the governments that formulated them. Despite these typological discrepancies, Dr. Morag goes on to analyze the aims, targets, and incentives of various terrorist groups.

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uPUn4yvePuk>

Time: 22:26

Description: The first module of this series provides a brief overview of the field of terrorism studies following the evolution of terrorism throughout the 20th century to today, and its increasing importance as a subject of academic study. Starting with typical academic approaches (chiefly, the "psychological" and "power-political" models), we discover how these models are alone insufficient for explaining the complex motivations behind terrorist group and individual actions. As a supplement or alternative to these traditional models, Social Identity Theory (SIT) is posited as a way of accounting for the seemingly inexplicable or "irrational" acts of terrorist and other violent subnational groups.

Title: Terrorism and Government: Between History and Criminology

URL: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tg8dx6qJtZI>

Time: 41:03

Description: The decade since 9/11 has been the pre-eminent age of terrorism; Or has it? This lecture considers the history of terrorism as an object of government and asks whether contemporary criminology has been able to describe or analyze adequately the attributes of this object. In doing so the lecturer reviews, briefly, the longer history of terrorism in its international context before asking what kinds of measures developed as 'counter-terrorism'. Then focusing attention on the emergence of terrorism as a focus of government policy and strategy in Australia, he argues that existing accounts have been dominated by a legacy of Cold War politics and ideology. They are preoccupied with the politics of policing and intelligence organizations, even though contemporary counter-terrorism instead is a concern of a wider range of government agencies. In tracing this development he considers whether the norms of criminal law that inform so many critiques of contemporary counter-terrorism are the primary standards by which we should judge its effects.

Description: After the United States successfully mounted a covert mission to eliminate America's number one terrorist target, celebration turned to mounting questions. How did the terrorist mastermind elude capture for nearly a decade, only to be discovered hiding in plain sight just yards away from Pakistan's most prestigious military academy? Peter Bergen, the famed journalist and author on Islamist terrorism who also produced bin Laden's first television interview, obtains rare access to interview former CIA agents, Navy SEAL operatives and a Black Hawk pilot who reveal how the U.S. gathered the intelligence needed to pull off the surprise attack. He'll talk to White House and Pakistani intelligence officials as well as neighbors of the Pakistani compound and eyewitnesses to the raid.
